About the Author

Dr. Janell L. Carroll received her Ph.D. in human sexuality education from the University of Pennsylvania. A certified sexuality educator with the American Association of Sexuality Educators, Counselors, and Therapists, Dr. Carroll is a dynamic educator, speaker, and author, who has published many articles, authored a syndicated sexuality column, and appeared on numerous television talk shows. Dr. Carroll has traveled throughout the world exploring sexuality—from Japan’s love hotels to Egypt’s sex clinics—and has been actively involved in the development of several television pilots exploring sexuality. She has lectured extensively; has appeared on and has been quoted in several national publications, Internet news media outlets, and cyber-press articles; and has hosted sexuality-related radio talk shows. She is also the author of a popular press book for young girls about menstruation titled The Day Aunt Flo Comes to Visit.

On a personal level, Dr. Carroll feels it is her mission to educate students and the public at large about sexuality—to help people think and feel through the issues for themselves. Dr. Carroll’s success as a teacher comes from the fact that she loves her students as much as she loves what she teaches. She sees students’ questions about sex as the foundation for her course and has brought that attitude, together with her enthusiasm for helping them find answers, to the fifth edition of Sexuality Now.

Dr. Carroll has won several teaching awards, including University of Hartford’s Gordon Clark Ramsey Award for Creative Excellence, for sustained excellence and creativity in the classroom, and Planned Parenthood’s Sexuality Educator of the Year. Before teaching at University of Hartford, Dr. Carroll was a tenured psychology professor at Baker University, where she was honored with awards for Professor of the Year and Most Outstanding Person on Campus. Dr. Carroll’s website (<http://www.drjanell-carroll.com>) is a popular site for people to learn about sexuality and ask questions.
